

Parents (PA) Zone

(Innovative parenting skills, articles and engagements for parents for their kids)

In a professional oriented society, both parents aspire to achieve excellence in their professional career. Sometimes the priority of parents for professional achievements overtakes their responsibility towards their kid. At the same time every parent wants the best for their kids in terms of pre-schools, toys, play ground so on and so forth.

But hardly have we, as parents, realised the fact that one of the most important thing our kids expect from us is our "Time". Research has proved that kids have more emotional quotient when parents spend more quality time with their kids. While there is no alternative to "spending quality time", KIDS PACKET would facilitate to make it more precise and more innovative.

Through our efforts, we would make the time spent with kids to be more fun, more productive and targeted to some very important life lessons that the parents can impart to their children.

To facilitate this, KIDS PACKET brings a section called "Parents Zone". Under this section we would be bringing various engagement activities for the children and with each engagement we would assist the parents to ensure that the kids learn the life lessons from each activity.

We hope that each parent would love to have the activities for their little ones.

Request for Contribution from Parents

Each parent is a fantastic motivator for the overall growth of their children. Each parent brings immense support for the development of kids. While we salute their parenting efforts in developing kids, KIDS PACKET would love to publish their unique parenting thoughts for the benefit of thousands of parents and their kids.

You may kindly contribute through a thought provoked article, unique parenting exercise or an engagement activity. We would be delighted to publish them. Kindly share your thoughts at kidspacket@gmail.com, so that we would publish in your name along with your affiliation. Just put "Engagement Activity for the Parents Zone- Your name (---)" in the subject line of the email.
